nov 05, 2020 Its still supported! L.A. Noire is officially supported up to the release of GTAV on June 10th, 2017. Now we are a little further than we were a year ago and we would love to continue providing support through the release of the game. Mar 23, 2020 GTAV is more than a year away, but it'll take a while for its release date to be announced. For now, we'd like to let you know that L.A. Noire will still be here for you. As we spoke to Rockstar Games just a few weeks ago, here's what they said:. It's not an official date or anything, but we assume we're talking about the same window as the release date of. However, Rockstar doesn't know when we can expect the next installment just yet so it's unclear whether L.A. Noire will be available for long. Here's what they had to say: we understand that the developers are hard at work trying to have the game ready for its release. Oct 29, 2019 L.A. Noire is still supported. Rockstar Games is in the middle of its development, and it knows that not everyone will have the same experience as the developers. This is why we released L.A. Noire on the PC several years ago, and this is the reason we are continuing to release L.A. Noire on the PC for the foreseeable future. So, that's why you see that L.A. Noire is still supported, but it's only on the PC for now. Sep 10, 2019 L.A. Noire for Windows 10 is still supported. Version 1.42.0800.3 will be the last release for Windows 10. L.A. Noire will not be updated any further. May 13, 2018 L.A. Noire for Windows 10, GTAIV, and Saint's Row 4 are all being supported to the final release date. We expect to release Windows 10, GTAIV, and Saint's Row 4 by July 2019. We will update L.A. Noire for Windows 10 after those games are released, which is expected to be a year from now. Oct 20, 2016 L.A. Noire for Windows 10 is still supported. Version 1.42.0800.3 will be the last release for Windows 10. L.A. Noire
